Good afternoon, everyone:

Attached please find the presentations from the April 20th modeling work session, as well as a list of key CBPO contacts. Also attached is the schedule for the Phase 6 webinars and the model review strategy document to support the Partnership's fatal flaw review of the modeling tools this June and July. I'll be in touch with additional information about follow up trainings, webinars, and scheduling a conference call to discuss continued collaboration over the coming months.

Thanks,
Lucinda

Andy and colleagues-

Thanks to you all for investing a long day with your Chesapeake Bay Program Partnership Office colleagues and listening to the decades worth of experiences and the 6th generations of partnership tools and capabilities over 7 hours. Heck, even over our group lunch we were talking shop!

As follow-up to a very, very productive day-long work session, we at the Partnership Office plan to:

- Share copies of all the presentations with the SRBC team, Ted Tesler and Nicki Kasi
- Compile and share a comprehensive listing of key staff here at the Partnership office, with full contact information and bulleted listings of their areas of expertise and specialties
- Share a bulleted list of possible follow up trainings/briefings and any follow up actions discussed throughout the day to be shared with the SRBC team and Ted Tesler
- Develop the next series of Midpoint Assessment webinars drawing from several of the presentations during the SRBC work session
- Schedule a follow up conference call between the teams following the May 8th Steering Committee meeting to plan out joint work in the coming weeks and months

And now that you all know where we work on the waterfront of Spa Creek, just off the Severn River and the Chesapeake Bay and you have tasted the delicious food prepared Maryland style, don't hesitate to plan to come on down and collaborate with us. Next time we need to schedule opportunities for sampling an array of local adult beverages which there are a lot of in Annapolis being a sailing town and with drinking problem!!

Again, thanks for joining up with us and we all look forward to working seamlessly together to support our Pennsylvania state agency and local partners during the Phase III WIP development process and then onto implementation.

Thanks, Rich

Hi Jeff et al.-

Just wanted to confirm our intent to arrive prior to 9AM – so hopefully our added 30-40 minute travel time “buffer” will be sufficient for any traffic we hit. Also wanted to thank everyone for all the prep materials – we had a chance to meet internally yesterday to go over the basics.

See everyone tomorrow-

Andy
